(Anglican & Catholic weddings)

This very quaint church was originally built in the 12th Century and stands on the ancient site referred to as St Paul's Pillar. Aghia Kyriaki is a popular wedding venue for guests staying in and around Paphos. Anglican and Catholic ceremonies can be arranged and it is worth noting that only organ music can be played during your service (no CD's). Stunning photo opportunities within the grounds of this pretty church before you carry on your celebrations.

• St George Chapel • Paphos
(Anglican & Catholic weddings)

This gorgeous chapel is a very popular and beautiful wedding location within the grounds of the St George Hotel, located on the beachfront between Paphos and Coral Bay. With its beautiful interior adorned with exquisite frescoes, St George Chapel can comfortably sit a maximum of 35 people. After your ceremony, which can either be an Anglican or Catholic Church service, head to where you have organised your wedding reception, be it a local taverna or your hotel.

• St Nicholas • Paphos
(Anglican weddings)

With its whitewashed walls and blue dome, St Nicholas truly illustrates what a typical Greek-style church should look like. Inside, it sits 44 persons and it is richly embellished with painted icons and solid oak furniture. St Nicholas stands in Kato Paphos and its outdoor terrace stretches to the seafront - a perfect spot for sunset photographs. We offer a wide choice of hotels in this area of Paphos and plenty to suggest for your reception.
